DOM PEDRO.

Reception of Brazil's Emperor.—
Who Went to Meet Him-The Landing of the Imperial Party—
How the Emperor Received His Friends.

(New York Herald ) Dom Pedro II, Emperor of Brazil, arrived in this city yesterday on the steamer Hevelieus. The imperial visitor was accompanied by the Empress of Brazil, his suite, including the Viscount de Bon Retero, ex-Minister of State, ex-Chamberlain of the Emperor, Vice Admiral Delamare, Senhor de Macedo, Dr. Souza Foutes, K. Henring, Dona Josefine de Fenseca Casta accompanies the Empress as Lady of Honor. In accordance with the expressed desire of the Emperor the reception accorded was entirely destitute of formality or display on the part of our government and municipal authorities. The simple programme previously arranged was quietly carried out, the occasion being marked by only those appropriate surroundings which official courtesy would suggest. The steamer Hevelius, which conveyed the imperial party, left Rio Janeiro on March 26 and had fine wether throughout the voyage. Her arrival was expected yesterday, and a bright lookout was maintained during the morning. She was signalled about half-past ten o'clock, and the inteligence was promptly forwarded to the city, The day was all that could be desired, and it was generally regretted that the Emperor's inclinations were not in consoance with the feelings of the many who desired to pay him a fitting and popular tribute of welcome on the occasion of his advent to our sheres. The Havelius rounded the point of Sandy Hook shortly after eleven 'clock, and as she passed through the Narrows a salute was fired from Fort Wadsworth, and soon after the vessel came to auchor. Meanwhile the deputation of Cabinet Ministers, consisting of Mr. Hamilton Eish, Secretary of State; Mr. George M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy; Mr. Taft, secretary of War, and Major-General W.S. Hancock, Commander of the Military Division of the Atlantic, and with his staff and the Portuguese Minister, the Baron of Santa Anna, proceeded down the Bay to greet the Emperor. The Brazillian Minister, A. P. de Carvahlo Borges, the Brazilian Consul General, Dr. Salvador de Mendoxa, Dr. Nichotas Morei, Senhar P. Paeg and others had already preceded them. The Minesterial party were conveyed to the sloop-of-war Alert, which was anchoredin mid-stream, and were received by Vice Admiral Rowan, the guns thundering forth a salute and the marine band playing "Hail Columbia." Collector Arthur had already boarded the Hevelius, and no delay was occasioned by either the guaran-Alert passed them or phoride for himself a interesting will relieve and is everyther. exceeding animated, there being onarge to penison, pharmaciatical ch-

After a formal introduction Secretary Fish delivered a brief address of welcome as follows: "The President of the United States has deputed the Secretary of War, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Navy, accompanied by the Vice Admiral of the Navy and the Major General of the Army, to congratulate Your Majesty upon your arrival on our shores and upon the safe termination of your voyage and to tender his welcome and that of the people of the United States on the occasion of your visit to this country. He anticipates with pleasure a personal interview with Your Majesty as soon as it may suit your convenience." The Emperor simply expressed his thanks for the reception given and seemed more disposed to enter into a friendly conversation with the members of the party than to make any kind of official response. He asked for General Sherman, when he said he desired very much to see, and was informed that he was unavoidably detaiged by his military duties in the West. "Ah remarked the Emperor, "General Hancock, too; his name is well known in connection with the war." His Majesty then shook hands warmly with General Hancock, and subsequently the members of the deputation were presented to the Empress in the main saloon. Upon returning to the deck Secretary Fish informed the Emperor that the sloop-of-war Alert was in waiting to convey him and the royal party to the city. but the Emperor politely declined the invi-tation and reiterated in a pleasant way his sentiments in regard to a public demonstration, stating that it was his desire to be regarded only in the light of a private individual, and expressing his warmest thanks for the kind feeling which prompted the official reception. The Cabinet Ministers, Vice Admiral Rowan, Major General Hancock and the other officers of the party then went on board the steam tug in watting and were taken of to the Alert, which proceeded to the Battery amid ringing salutes. The Emperor chatted pleasantly with those on board, and seemed to create the most favorable impression by his apparent geutleners and unostentatious manner. He inquired particularly about the poet steamed slowly up to to the city, and, after tin's piers, at Brooklyn, there were but one or two expectant friends of persons on board to be seen at the place of landing. The wharf itsell, however, contained a string of backs long enough to carry a good share of the Brazillan nobility. Conspicous among the passengers on the after deck use the Emperor, who saluted repeatedly linsurance Agent; was the Emperor, who sainted repeatedly in re-ponse to the greetings from those en shore. Some time was consumed in swinging the vessel round into position alongside the pier, during which impatient friends were rapidly exchanging greetings and bits of news. As soon as the ship was in position the gangway was hoisted up to the deck, and the friends of those on board at once rushed up. There ensued a little ba-bel of sounds in various tongues. Those privileged with the Emperor's acquaintance were received by him in a hearty, gental fashion, while the first embraces and salutations of friends were given and exchanged all around. It was a pretty sight. In a very short time the imperial party were ready to move. The Empress then appeared and took an effectionate leave of the ladies who had journeyed with her. A carriage, with a team of white horses, was soon occupied by the illustrsous travellers, who at once proceeded across Fulton ferry and up Broadway to the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The police seem to have had it hard to keep from the approaches to the pier every one wearing a respectable garment; the consequence was an assemblage of men in habilments of that peculiarly day-looking russet coulor which speaks feelingly of age and weather. In about twenty minutes from the time of the ship's making the pier all the passenger had gone their several ways; and not a sign remained that the emperor and party had been there.

Shortly before three o'clock the Hevelius
